They don’t agree on everything, but they agree on one thing.

13 of 14 East Coast governors oppose offshore drilling.

They join dozens of state attorneys general and members of Congress, plus over 200 coastal communities, in fighting Trump’s plan to open the Atlantic to drilling.

“THE LAST THING WE SHOULD BE DOING IS ExPOSING MAINE’S FISHERIES, LOBSTERMEN, AND COASTLINE...TO OFFSHORE DRILLING.”
—Janet Mills (D), Maine

“OF COURSE I OPOSE DRILLING OFF OF NEW HAMPSHIRE’S COASTLINE.”
—ChrisSununu (R), New Hampshire

“NOW IS THE TIME FOR RHODE ISLANDERS TO MAKE THEIR VOICES HEARD AND TELL PRESIDENT TRUMP TO PROTECT OUR WATERS.”
—Gina Raimondo (D), Rhode Island

“For more than three decades, the exploration or leasing for oil and gas in the North Atlantic has not been justified, and we believe this holds true today more than ever.”
—Charlie Baker (R), Massachusetts

“PRESIDENT TRUMP’S MOVE TO ALLOW NEW OFFSHORE OIL AND GAS DRILLING REPRESENTS YET ANOTHER FEDERAL ASSAULT ON OUR ENVIRONMENT AND OUR FUTURE.”
—Andrew Cuomo (D), New York

“We must stand firm against any plan for fossil fuel exploration, drilling, or development off the Atlantic coast...”
—Phil Murphy (D), New Jersey

“It’s time for the Trump administration to listen. Our coasts are too valuable to be put at risk.”
—Larry Hogan (R), Maryland

“Delaware simply cannot accept the risks associated with offshore drilling...”
—John Carney (D), Delaware

“The last thing we need to do right now is drilling off of our coast.”
—Ralph Northam (D), Virginia

“Offshore drilling poses too many risks for North Carolina and our coastal economy.”
—Roy Cooper (D), North Carolina

“We will do whatever it takes to protect the people and property and welfare of our coast.”
—Henry McMaster (R), South Carolina

“...I do not support seismic testing or offshore drilling off the Georgia coast...”
—Brian Kemp (R), Georgia

“Let’s protect the environment; we don’t need offshore drilling here.”
—Ron DeSantis (R), Florida

#protectourcoast